Want to live in the ROTC Living Learning Community?

The ROTC Living Learning Community at Tolbert Hall is a collaborative effort between the Department of Housing and Residence Education and the Department of Military Science. It is designed for any students interested in the Navy/Marine ROTC. The Living Learning Community provides midshipmen with the opportunity to learn more about each other and each service through routine social contact in a non-classroom atmosphere. The LLC is open to all ROTC members, regardless of scholarship status.

The LLC is conveniently located across the street from Van Fleet Hall (NROTC building), next to gator Dining, near major sporting venues i.e. the football stadium, baseball stadium, O Dome, and the track/soccer field.

Are you interested in living in the community? If so, it is not too late to sign up.

Who is eligible? Incoming freshmen for Fall 2012 semester.

To sign up, you should:

1. Ensure you have registered for UF housing.
2. Contact Colleen (NROTC Secretary) at 352-392-0973
